

I do not agree with monitoring of Network traffic.
If I were to send you a email and it contained a password for signing you onto my system, I wouldn't want someone else getting that password.
I don't care if it is the police, or the president of the United States. I only want the person I'm sending it to, to have access. That's it. The people that want to have the internet policed are the people that want to commercialize the internet even more for their gain. The people's interests are not being taken into affect and that is just selfish. I vote to keep the internet private.
